ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS

Recent/Current Activities

English Language Arts 10-13 courses are in the final stages of development for field test purposes. Field test sites have been selected for the coming school year, and inservice for the teachers involved will occur in late August.

English 16 (Integrated Occupational Program), field tested in 1988-89, is being revised during the 1989-90 school year and will be available for September 1990. The draft program of studies and teacher resource manual are available for a three-month review by contacting the Integrated Occupational Program office in Edmonton. English 26 will be available for implementation in September 1991.

Current Materials Available from Alberta Education:

Resources to support the new English 10-13 courses are being reviewed, and field test resources will be identified prior to the end of the 1989-90 school year.

Plans and Initiatives

New programs of study for English 20-23 and 30-33 are being developed.

All revised English language arts programs will involve:

- updating learning resources
- emphasis on effective writing skills
- plans for using technology in the writing process.

Two French language arts programs have been implemented this year. The Français 10-20-30 program is intended for francophone students. The French Language Arts 10-20-30 program has been developed for French immersion students. For further information regarding these programs and resources, please contact Alain Nogue at 427-4662.

MATHEMATICS

Recent/Current Activities

Newly revised courses in Mathematics 10-13-14 were field tested in the 1989 school year, and new courses of study will be sent to school jurisdictions in June, 1989. The courses will be implemented September 1989. The draft teacher resource manual will be distributed by the Curriculum Support Branch before the end of this school year. The French edition of the course of studies will be distributed this summer.

The Mathematics 16 (Integrated Occupational Program) course of studies and teacher resource manual are being revised after field testing during the 1988-89 school year and will be available for implementation in September 1990. Mathematics 26 will be piloted in the 1989-90 school year and will be available for implementation in September 1991. The Mathematics 26 draft program of studies and teacher resource manual are available for a three-month review from the Integrated Occupational Program office in Edmonton.

PRACTICAL ARTS

Recent Current Activities

A review of the practical arts programs in secondary schools is in progress and the initial stage of this review will be completed by the end of this school year. Three discussion papers that were prepared as part of the review process, Status of the Program, Trends and Issues and Directions for Change will be forwarded to school principals in June. Reaction and advice is invited by September 30, 1989. Following assessment of these responses, the proposed directions for change will be considered by government, and strategies will be established for the implementation of revised programs.

School principals will be invited to attend information meetings to discuss the proposed directions for change. A letter with registration forms will be sent out in May. Meetings will be held throughout the province during June.

Teacher resource manuals for Law 20-30 and work experience will be sent to schools before the September 1989 school year.

The Alberta Correspondence School courses in Accounting 10-20, Law 20, Office Procedures 20, Record Keeping 10 and Typing 10 are now available in a redesigned format that should improve service to individual students and response time. Accounting 30 and Mechanics 12 courses have been enhanced with new media and a facilitator's guide.

Occupational components at the 16 level (Integrated Occupational Program) were field tested in 1988-89, and will be revised and available for implementation in the 1990-91 school year. The Occupational 26 draft program of studies and teacher resource manual are now available for three-month review by contacting the Integrated Occupational Program office in Edmonton. The occupational components at the 26 level will be available for implementation in the 1991-92 school year.
